Newsletter Fall 2011

We will be exhibiting at the 48th Annual Delaware Antique Indian Art show which will open on Friday, November 4 and continue through Sunday, November 6, 2011. The Preview Party is on Thursday, November 3rd. This show, owned by Winterthur Museum, continues to be recognized as one of America's premier antiques shows and it features leading dealers in American antiques and designers.

Along with other great examples of antique Native American art that we will be bringing, we are excited to offer several unique and rare objects that we have recently acquired. These include an early whimsical Cochiti ceramic dog and a rare Cree or Athabaskan babiche hide bag with moosehair embroidery.

You can learn more details about these items by going to our website and clicking the images on the first page. Marcy Burns American Indian Arts

We are also excited to have just acquired a private collection that includes fabulous 19th century Northwest Coast argillite items as well as early Pueblo pots and baskets. We will offer several of these items at the Delaware Show. They are completely fresh to the market.

If you would like additional information about any of these items or to learn more about what else we will be showing at Delaware, please feel free to contact us by telephone or email. Also, if you plan on attending the show and visiting our booth and would like comp tickets, please feel free to contact us.

Also, of course, be sure to check for new entries at: Marcy Burns American Indian Arts
